CONTENTS

Research and reports

1 A study of prescribed H_1-antihistamine preparations over a period of 12 months in community pharmacy
K. Chan and G. Chan

11 The difference spectrophotometric assay of 5-hydroxymethylfurfuraldehyde in parenteral formulations of dextrose
A. G. Davidson

19 Compliance measure development and assessment of theophylline therapy in ambulatory patients
P. L. De Tullio, D. M. Kirking, C. Arslanian and D. E. Olson

27 Disposition of vancomycin in healthy volunteers from oral solution and semi-solid matrix capsules
R. A. Lucas, W. J. Bowtle and R. Ryden

33 A report on an initial comparative study of two methods for the determination of glutaraldehyde
J. S. Millership

39 A comparison of absorption rate models in the prediction of steady-state plasma concentrations during oral theophylline administration
C. M. E. Paterson, S. A. Hudson and G. C. Jefferson

47 Caffeine as a potential indicator for acetylator status
R. B. Rankin, S. A. Hudson and A. F. Fell

53 Caffeine withdrawal headache
R. Smith

Notes

59 Drug prescribing for TPN patients at a teaching hospital serving a developing community
T. Bertram and R. S. Summers

65 A study to evaluate the effect of a course of ranitidine on antipyrine kinetics
P. Dawson and J. Clarke

From the drug information centres (second series)

69 Introduction to the series
D. Worthen

Review articles

71 Therapeutic progress—Review XXIV. Are we making progress? The treatment of peptic ulcer disease by control of gastric acidity
P. I. Reed and R. L. McIsaac

81 Therapeutic progress—Review XXV. Osteoarthritis—are we making progress?
R. W. Jubb

Research and reports

91 The pharmacokinetics of oxprenolol following oral and rectal dosing—a comparison of delivery systems and routes of administration
M. R. Gregg, D. B. Jack, S. R. Smith and M. J. Kendall

101 The influence of beta-adrenoceptor blockade on the lipolytic response to exercise
P. E. Hall, S. R. Smith, D. B. Jack and M. J. Kendall

107 The effect of pH and concentration on the rates of kill of benzoic acid solutions against E. Coli
S. J. Hurwitz and T. J. McCarthy

117 Drug assays—the role of modern voltammetric techniques
W. F. Smyth and A. D. Woolfson

Editorial

135 Dementia—Further progress
M. J. Kendall

137 Tolerance—A response to long-term treatment with β-receptor stimulants
S. Rolf Smith

Commentary

141 Reflections on the pharmacist–patient relationship
J. H. Kilwein

Review article

145 Therapeutic progress—Review XXVI. Drug therapy for the acute leukaemias
S. M. Donohue, M. D. Hamon and I. M. Franklin

Research and reports

157 A simple, inexpensive implementation of the F_o concept of autoclave cycle validation using a portable data logger with a remote microcomputer
D. Bell, P. S. Farrell and D. C. Small

165 Glycyrrhizin gel as a vehicle for idoxuridine—1. Clinical investigations
R. Segal and S. Pisanty

173 Counselling patients on oral anticoagulant therapy—a pilot study
N. Refsum

181 Changes in pharmacy practice due to a clinical pharmacy training programme for a group of community hospitals
R. S. Summers, B. Summers, S. Rawnsley and L. Hurwitz

187 Computer simulation as a teaching aid in pharmacy management—Part 1. Principles of accounting
D. J. Morrison

Note

193 Vaginal absorption of Naproxen
G. Constantine, K. Hale, C. Brennan and D. Eccleston

197 Book review

Editorial

199 Calcium antagonists and ischaemic heart disease

Review articles

203 Therapeutic progress—Review XXVII. High dose chemotherapy in haematological malignancy
M. D. Hamon, S. M. Donohue and I. M. Franklin

213 Therapeutic progress—Review XXVIII. Platelet function and calcium channel blocking agents
I. A. Greer

223 Endotoxin testing
E. Vanhaecke, J. Pijck and A. Vuye

Developments in pharmacy practice

237 The pharmacist as prescriber
Howard J. Eng

243 Pilot projects to stimulate adverse drug reaction reporting
Jack E. Fincham

Research and reports

249 A comparison of two incubation temperatures for the isolation of Gram-negative contaminants from raw materials and non-sterile pharmaceuticals
Anne Ferguson, Asmita Patel and Rosamund M. Baird

255 Cytotoxic drug reconstitution at the Kuwait Cancer Control Centre
R. Eggleston, M. Assad and M. Aslam

261 Computer simulation as a teaching aid in pharmacy management—Part 2. Stock control
D. J. Morrison

Editorial

267 Prevention of acute mountain sickness
A. D. Wright

269 Halothane and the liver—the present situation
J. Neuberger

Review article

273 Clinical pharmacokinetics, toxicity and cost effectiveness analysis of aminoglycosides and aminoglycoside dosing services
A. Mathews and G. R. Bailie

Research and reports

293 The compatibility of calcium phosphate in paediatric TPN infusions
M. C. Allwood

303 Urinary thioether excretion in nurses at an oncologic department
A. Bayhan, S. Burgaz and A. E. Karakaya

307 The stability of parenteral fat emulsions in nutrition mixtures
J. du Plessis, C. J. van Wyk and C. Ackermann

319 An evaluation of the potential interaction between enalapril and amiloride
A. S. Radley and R. W. Fitzpatrick

325 Intrinsic and extrinsic microbial contamination of home total parenteral nutrition manufactured in eva-infusion bags (the i.v. bag)
E. Wind Hansen and P. Lund Nielsen

From the drug information centres

333 Pharmacy—two views of the future
P. F. D'Arcy and D. B. Worthen

Notes

339 Chemical stability of thiopental sodium injection in disposable plastic syringes
V. Das Gupta, S. Neil Gardner and K. R. Stewart

343 Assessment of gastric emptying using gamma scintigraphy
D. Harris, J. T. Fell, H. L. Sharma and D. C. Taylor

Editorial

347 Beta-blockers and cardioprotection—is there any good news from the recent trials?
J. Wikstrand
